

Nova Design Group Pty Ltd

When you engage Nova Design Group you are provided with an exceptional and professional service that reflects decades of experience and expertise in architectural design and project management without blowing out your budget.

Every project is unique and requires an extensive degree of information to assess what will be involved before being able to provide an accurate cost. Whether you are renovating or building new it is always hard to know where to start and how much it will cost.

Our company offers a one hour free consultation talking direct with the architect in his office, to exchange ideas thereby eliminating any room for error by talking to a third party

We place great value on your time and ours, time is money and as such we respect every minute spent with you. We work one on one with you to achieve this objective and to produce a design that you want rather than one we might think you want.

Our commitment is to provide a complete set of working drawings that capture and detail your ideas within your budget and within a realistic time frame. Years of training and experience in managing and liaising with the different trade's people will ensure that the working drawings are followed precisely enabling you to fully enjoy the process whilst ending up with a well finished off construction.

Choosing the Nova Group to manage your project is where you benefit the most, because all design work fees applicable are waived and your only cost is for the management of your building contract regardless of who builds it.

With over 35 years of experience, the Nova Group team knows how to speak the building industry language with builders and contractors, so there are never any doubts as to the project outcome.

We enjoy imparting our knowledge and in our opinion, our experience will provide you the best service money can buy.

Project management fees are charge on hourly rates rather than a percentage of the project this way you know at all times how much money you are spending. Our management fee schedule is upfront and realistically priced with no extra costs outside of our contractual agreement, please refer to our fees schedule.
